

This is a printer friendly version of an article from www.nashuatelegraph.com
To print this article if a print dialogue does not open automatically, open the File menu and choose Print.

Back

---

Mass. firm's move to Nashua brings 20 jobs

By CINDY KIBBE New Hampshire Business Review

An audio-visual equipment integrator has moved its headquarters from Massachusetts to a larger facility in Nashua, bringing more than 20 jobs to the state.

CCS New England opened its new 26,000-square-foot headquarters at 132 Northeastern Blvd., in Nashua, moving across the border from Chelmsford, Mass., according to a release by the company.

The new site will house its 22 current employees with the room to include additional workers, said officials.

"Our new facility in Nashua is an ideal fit and positions us just minutes outside of Boston, allows us to develop additional business in New Hampshire and is an ideal jumping off point for markets that we already serve in other parts of the New England area," said Cheryl Gamst, president and owner of CCS New England.

"In this digital age, audio and video technology has become an integral part of our everyday lives from K-12 schools to colleges, universities, corporate meeting rooms, retail locations, airports, restaurants, and luxury hotels," said Chris Gamst, CCS New England's vice president.

"We're thrilled to have a new space that allows us to truly connect to the customers and serve their needs."

CCS New England, a division of CCS Presentation Systems, installs and maintains high definition video conferencing systems, interactive teaching and meeting tools, projectors and digital displays. The company also provides sound masking and energy management systems throughout New England.

The company serves corporate, government and education sectors, with clients such as IBM and the Federal Aviation Administration.

Founded in 1998 by Cheryl and Chris Gamst, CCS New England has been named a Top 50 Woman Owned Business, Top 50 Diversity Owned Business and Top 50 Privately Held Business.

---

© 2009, Telegraph Publishing Company, Nashua, New Hampshire